

BUILDING BRIDGES

ACCESS TO FURTHER AND HIGHER EDUCATION FOR YOUNG PEOPLE FROM MILITARY FAMILIES

28 JUNE 2017 9AM – 4PM, THE UNIVERSITY OF WINCHESTER

We are delighted to announce an excellent line-up of leading policy, research and practice contributions including:

Keynote: Anne-Marie Trevelyan MP, Chair of the APPG Armed Forces Covenant

Q&A Panel: your chance to hear from and question key policy makers, including Anne-Marie Trevelyan MP, Ministry of Defence, Ofsted and Department for Education

Building Bridges: A choice of CPD workshops exploring research progress and priorities, best practice around transition points and support, and work in the FE and HE sector.

The launch of the new Service Children's Progression Alliance: a new partnership focused on improving the progression of children from military families into and through further and higher education.

The conference is for researchers, practitioners and policy makers and is suitable for those completely new to this work, as well as those with years of experience.

This conference will:

- Explore the policy landscape of support for service children and young people
- Provide up-to-date research and best practice inputs, alongside networking for schools, colleges, universities, local authorities, researchers and other stakeholders
- Provide and develop practical solutions to improving access and success for young people from service families.

Delegate fee: £95

To register please visit: winchester.ac.uk/scip

Please contact: katherine.lawrence@winchester.ac.uk for further information.

